1. At kilometer 117 of the railroad line Pitesti-Curtea de Arges, behind the Bascov railroad station, there is an underground oil reservoir belonging to the Soviet Army Command in Rumania.
2. Railroad tank cars carry the oil from the Ploesti oil fields to a pumping station located alongside the railroad line.
3. There is an underground ammunition dump in the forest bordering the village Francesti, which is located approximately 45 kilometers from the Ramnicul-Valcea-Targul-Jiu highway.
4. There is another underground ammunition and supply dump near the village of Goranul, three kilometers from the town of Ramnicul-Valcea. This dump is at the foot of a hill named Goranul. A short distance from there is a shooting range.
5. There are other oil storage tanks at various other places in the province of Valcea; at Caineni and Daesti in the district of Oltenia, and at the outskirts of the town of Ramnicul-Valcea, but it is not known whether these belong to the Soviet or to the Rumanian Army.
